

بِسْمِ اللَّهِ الرَّحْمَنِ الرَّحِيمِ

Beautiful is the breeze that blows across the desert sands

And the mighty waves that gently kiss the shore

Like the snow cornice that tightly embraces the mountain top

To every flower that blooms after the merciful rain

But there's nothing more beautiful, than the golden dew of a radiant Ramaḍān

A heart to heart connection, between master and slave

His clemency, compassion, and raḥmah upon our sinful souls

His forbearance, tolerance and forgiveness despite our audacity to disobey and transgress

His love and light, although we forget him unless in an unfortunate situation or plight

A month to revitalise, rejuvenate and reconnect; to ALLĀH – The Almighty

To renew and restore, to awaken and brighten, to advance and make progress- to become better, stronger and cured

By dint of this sacred mouth, it comes along with an abundant of mercy, forgiveness and a writ of deliverance from al-nār (hellfire)

You're welcome oh Ramaḍān! And oh, most welcome you are!

For you come by so swiftly and leave no sooner, in equal leaps and bounds

And for a guest so glorious and dignified as you, what have we prepared? Is it the food for a scrumptious ifṭār? Is it a night of ghaflah after Tarāwīḥ Is it to sleep in, through Fajar ṣalāh, because we awoke earlier for suḥūr?

رَمَضَانَ

URWAH
BIN AZ ZUBAYR

We present to ALLĀH through your blessedness,

a tainted heart and a weary soul

Perhaps, you may pen us an ointment to make this halfness whole

Bathe us in your mercy and allow us to reach the heights of ALLĀH's forgiveness

And leave not, until Al-Ghaffār pardons enough- enough to save us from the blazing fire

Come soon, as we await, hoping to count on you for our dear lives Our hearts long for a salaah of Tahajjud before dawn, a sincere du'ā that averts the huge yawn Sunrise to sunset a fast so long, from the day all tired and worn Yet, to still stand and pray; making the most, as this guest never over stays

An ifṭār surrounded by families and friends, to a heart of generosity we gracefully extend

Days of ṣiyām, trailing into nights of lengthy qiyam and reciting over over, from ALLĀH's most sublime kalām

Welcome of Ramaḍān, as you come by to heal, having our flaws pardoned and concealed

The time has arrived for each believer to understand, that we shall fast and pray because this month is so grand

اللهم بلغنا رمضان و تقبل منا ومنكم أمين يارب العالمين
